

Getting to know your Plastic Surgeon

Dr. John David Rosdeutscher, M.D. is a native of Bowling Green, KY and went to college and medical school at Vanderbilt University. While a medical student, he served as class social chairman his first two years, class vice-president his third year, and class president his fourth year.

After medical school, Dr. Rosdeutscher interned in general surgery and did a residency in Otolaryngology/Head & neck Surgery at University of Cincinnati. He also completed a residency in Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery at University of Louisville, including hand surgery training with Kleinert, Kutz, and Associates of Louisville Hand Surgery.

Dr. Rosdeutscher is a certified diplomate by both the American Board of Otolaryngology/Head & Neck Surgery and the American Board of Plastic Surgery. From 2000-2003, he served as Assistant Professor of Surgery and Chief of Otolaryngology and Plastic Surgery at Meharry Medical College and Metro Nashville General Hospital. Dr. Rosdeutscher is currently Assistant Clinical Professor of Otolaryngology and Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery at VUSM.

After training, he moved back to Nashville where he now lives with his wife Kimberly, a practicing pediatrician, and their two sons Jordan and Noah. He has been practicing in Nashville since 1998.
